Patrick J. Kelly is the Chief Executive Officer of the St. Lawrence County Industrial Development Agency. He works with a team of New York State, St. Lawrence County, regional, and local developers in the planning, implementation, and administration of programs to assist and attract industries to locate, expand, and succeed in St Lawrence County. Patrick is a St. Lawrence County native and a graduate of Cornell University with a concentration in Business Management and Marketing. In addition to his role with the New York State Economic Development Council, Patrick is the Chairman of the Northern New York Power Proceeds Allocation Board, and is a board member of the St. Lawrence Health Alliance, the North Country Alliance, and the North Country Economic Development Fund.